Month of the Military Child

This month, we're honored to spotlight Nora Martin for Month of the Military Child (MOMC). In our conversation with Nora, she graciously opened up about her life as a military child, reflecting on her remarkable journey. Despite being just 7 years old, Nora has already called 7 different states home! Yet, she maintains a resilient spirit, cherishing the opportunity to make new friends with each move. Both of Nora's parents serve in the military, and she eagerly anticipates "daughter work day" as a chance to witness her mom in action. Nora exemplifies the strength and positivity of military children, embracing the challenges and finding joy in every experience. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to Nora for sharing her inspiring story with us!

What is Month of the Military Child?

The history of this special celebration goes back to 1986, when Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger established April to represent military children and their fearlessness. As a father and veteran, he reflected on his time of service and realized how many sacrifices and challenges his children faced as a result. So, he decided to create Month of the Military Child (MOMC) to recognize and celebrate the strength, courage, and resilience it takes to be a military child.

Why Purple?

The color purple is significant because it's a combination of all the colors of the U.S. Armed Force: Air Force, Navy, and Coast Guard all use shades of blue, the Army use green, and the Marines use red.

Why Dandelion?

Military children, akin to dandelions, demonstrate resilience and adaptability as they navigate frequent relocations due to their parents' military service. Their ability to thrive in diverse environments reflects their strength in overcoming adversities. Military kids grow where they land.

Did you know...

- There are more than 1.6 million military children who face many challenges and unique experiences as a result of their parents' service.
- The average military child moves 6 to 9 times during their school career, and their families move every two to three years.
- There are more children than service members by a ratio of 1.4 to 1.

Check Out Janice Scott, Our School Liaison for more!

Hear it From Them!

We recently had the privilege of conversing with several incredible children from military families to gain insight into their unique experiences. They shared stories about the challenges they've faced as military children, along with the highlights that make their journey special. It was truly uplifting to witness their unwavering positivity and resilience, as they recounted their adventures and cherished memories from the diverse places they've called home. It goes to show just how strong and courageous these children really are. Below are some quotes we gathered from our interviews with them:

"My dad was deployed two times in a row to Korea, I played a lot of video games to pass the time."

Henry Garner
Age 10

"My friend Joseph and I grew up in the CDC together and were friends for 4 years! He just moved and I miss him a lot."

Jayden Vojirked
Age 7
